The Current System of “Prescription” Dog Food is Broken

The hallmark of most canned or bagged dog foods are ingredients left over from the processing of food for human consumption, lower bioavailability and powerful preservatives. Many of the by-products that are used in prescription dog foods are highly processed, difficult to digest and less palatable. In our view the dog food business has not kept up with the desire of the public and the vet industry to feed dogs in a healthier manner.

We’re Offering The Next Level of Wellness

We do three things at JustFoodForDogs®. We make daily food for healthy dogs, we make a line of veterinarian directed diets and we offer custom formulations. Our line of vet directed diets are listed below and all are cooked using fresh, whole foods and then instantly frozen and all are stocked items that can be delivered to you on short notice or picked up at one of our kitchens by your patient with a prescription from you.

- Neoplasia Support
- Derm Support Fish
- Metabolic Support Low Fat
- Renal Support Moderate Protein
- Renal Support Low Protein
- Balanced Remedy
- Joint & Skin Support
- Hepatic Support Low Fat

Our custom formulation service is simple, flexible and fast. You provide the clinical data and we will formulate the nutrient supplementation and food into a diet that is tailored specifically for each case. Some veterinarians take a hands on approach and others prefer that we work directly with the pet owner and advise them at certain stages. We are accustomed to, and comfortable with, either method.

We’re Serious About Canine Nutrition

We built an entire facility for the sole purpose of addressing canine nutrition. The director of our nutrition team is Oscar Chavez, DVM. Oscar is also an instructor of Clinical Canine Nutrition at a major California State University, Member of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons (MRCVS), Member American Academy of Veterinary Nutrition (AAVN) and has a deep understanding of the field.

Every ingredient in all of the food we make is documented and logged, as is the chain of custody. All of our food is prepared from ingredients certified by the USDA for human consumption. This isn’t a marketing gimmick. High quality, fresh, whole foods are much more bioavailable than typical “feed grade” ingredients used in the manufacturing of commercial dog food. The use of fresh, whole foods also allows us to successfully address the issues of bioavailability, digestibility and palatability. Additionally, all of our supplemental nutrients are purchased from a Southern California company that strictly produces human grade products in a facility registered, licensed and compliant with FDA, GMP and NSF/NPA.

Your Clients Will Love Working with Us

For the veterinarians with whom we work, the best part is the outstanding feedback you will get from your clients. Our customers love us, ask anyone from the board certified veterinary specialists we work with to the many pet parents that have recommended us to friends and family. Or check out our Yelp reviews and our Facebook page. Unlike the multinational corporations that manufacture commercial dog food, we are truly accessible. If you would like to speak with the founder of the company, Shawn Buckley- call him on his personal cell phone: (949) 378-2927. If you have a question for our staff veterinarian Dr. Oscar Chavez, DVM call him on his cell phone: (714) 206-8751. The point is, we are here for you and we are here for your patients.

We’re A Real Partner

The profit margins we offer to veterinarians are the same as the other prescription foods on the market but the quality of the ingredients, digestibility, bioavailability and palatability are worlds apart. And the vets with whom we work enjoy a high level of reciprocity and loyalty. Unlike many of the mainstream prescription brands, JFFD cannot be found at discount retailers or for purchase over the internet and can only be sold through veterinarian offices or at one of the JFFD kitchens at the direction of the primary care or specialist veterinarian.
